OVERVIEW

Andrew Hollander protects his clients' valuable intellectual property including their brands, inventions, creative works, proprietary business information, and more. His trademark practice includes registering, enforcing, and licensing trademarks in the U.S. and abroad. He regularly conducts clearance on new brands for U.S. and worldwide rollout and manages global portfolios comprising trademarks in more than 100 countries. Further, he handles opposition and cancellation actions before the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board (TTAB) of the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office and in trademark actions in federal court.

A patent attorney registered to practice with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office, Andrew prepares and prosecutes patents on computer software and hardware, online and offline business models, artificial intelligence, mechanical inventions, and more.

He advises in many industries, including travel, health and beauty care, consumer packaged goods, equipment rentals, and financial institutions. He negotiates and drafts agreements, such as license, trademark coexistence, celebrity endorsement, and influencer agreements. He also advises on advertising, domain names, and social media.

Andrew has experience in protecting designs of all kinds with trade dress registrations and design patents, including bottle shapes, graphical user interfaces (GUIs), apparel, bicycles, and more.

Formerly head of an in-house intellectual property department, he is solutions-oriented and advises on portfolio management strategies, IP due diligences, and M&A transactions.

Andrew is an Adjunct Professor at Seton Hall University School of Law where he teaches courses in both Trademark Registration and in Patent Law.

He contributes pro bono IP work to an anti-bullying organization.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Prior to joining K&L Gates, Andrew was vice president of intellectual property for a $4 billion dollar global company, where he headed its IP activities. Andrew also practiced at two leading law firms where he engaged in IP counseling, litigation, and prosecution.
