In this edition, we are very pleased to include a short interview with the Registrar of the LCIA, Sarah Lancaster, regarding the application of the new LCIA arbitration rules and recent developments in LCIA arbitration. We are also delighted to include, as part of our series of guest contributions from expert witnesses, an article from Philip Haberman and Liz Perks, partners in Haberman Ilett LLP (a specialist firm providing accounting and financial expertise only in the context of disputes), exploring recent trends in expert evidence and providing thoughts on potential future improvements.

On the institutional side, we report on the launch of the new Perth Centre for Energy and Resources Arbitration, we compare the emergency arbitration procedures in the new (2015) CIETAC Arbitration Rules against other institutions' procedures and review arbitration under the rules of the Court of Arbitration of Côte d'Ivoire (CACI), one of the major arbitral institutions in West Africa. As for legal developments, we report on the new Delaware Rapid Arbitration Act and the much-anticipated forthcoming UK Insurance Act, as well as comment on a recent decision of the Supreme Court of Victoria, Australia, as to what constitutes a "commercial arbitration". We report on the new International Commercial Arbitration Subsection in Miami, Florida, a new court subdivision devoted to hearing international commercial arbitration matters. We look at the issue of who determines questions of whether a particular dispute is arbitrable in U.S.-seated arbitrations. We summarize the types of disputes that may arise in M&A transactions and the potential benefits and drawbacks of using arbitration to resolve those disputes. We also include an article looking at growth of electronically stored information (ESI) and the potential benefits of new technologies for reviewing ESI in international arbitrations and include an article specifically focused on the growth of predictive coding as a document review solution when dealing with ESI.

We also provide our usual update on developments from around the globe in international arbitration and investment treaty arbitration.

We hope you find this edition of Arbitration World of interest and we welcome any feedback (email ian.meredith@klgates.com or peter.morton@klgates.com).
