OVERVIEW

Connor Meggs is an associate at the firm's Los Angeles office. He is a member of the Commercial Disputes practice group. His experience includes representing public and private companies in disputes involving claims for trade secret misappropriation, trademark infringement, employment discrimination, wrongful termination, and breach of contract.

Connor is experienced in many phases of litigation in both federal and state court, including drafting and responding to legal complaints, complex fact and expert discovery, law and motion practice, deposition preparation, dispositive motion practice, trial preparation, and pretrial motions such as motions in limine.

Connor also maintains an active pro bono practice, including representing clients who are victims of fraud.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Connor was a summer associate at the firm's Los Angeles office. While at UCLA School of Law, he served as a research assistant to Professor Daniel Bussel, an expert in bankruptcy and contract law. Connor also served as the financial director of UCLA School of Law's largest student organization, El Centro Legal, which coordinates a network of student-volunteer legal aid clinics providing legal services under attorney supervision.
