OVERVIEW

Peter Yang is an associate and a member of the IP Procurement and Portfolio Management practice group. Peter has extensive experience in preparing and prosecuting patent applications around the world and performing due diligence work for a diverse array of clients, from start-ups to large pharmaceutical corporations. Peter's expertise covers a broad range of technologies in the life sciences, including biologics, genetics, molecular biology, immunology, and virology.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Prior to joining K&L Gates, Peter served as a patent agent at a pair of Massachusetts boutique intellectual property firms, where he drafted and prosecuted patent applications, and performed IP landscape, patentability, freedom-to-operate, and invalidity analyses for clients. Peter also worked as an in-house patent agent for a Massachusetts-based biotechnology company.
