OVERVIEW

Kelli Fiesta is a staff lawyer in the e-discovery analysis and technology (e-DAT) group. Since joining the group in 2000, she has advised clients on matter-specific electronic discovery strategies.

Kelli handles all stages of electronic discovery from the legal hold process through post-production litigation support in a variety of matters including large-scale class actions, commercial and IP litigation, including patent infringement, government and regulatory investigations, and corporate acquisitions.

She manages all aspects of data preservation, collection, processing and filtering and structures and supervises document review projects. She also serves as a liaison between and among clients, trial counsel, review attorney teams, vendors, and IT and other technical support personnel.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Before joining the firm, Kelli was a legal intern in the office of the King County Prosecutor, Civil Division. Before attending law school, Kelli was a paralegal and office manager of a small Seattle law firm whose practice focused on copyright infringement and asbestos defense.
